Harvest Report: Viognier grows exceptionally well in the South Okanagan — the combination of hot days and cool nights produces fruit with an extraordinary balance of perfume and body. Precision viticulture, including controlled drip irrigation and selective canopy management, resulted in lush, ripe fruit. It's the perfect varietal to launch our new 'Terra Unica' tier of wines, exclusive to Bench Club subscription members.

Winemaking: Thanks to exceptional growing conditions, the fruit received minimal treatment in the winery; gentle pneumatic pressing, controlled cool fermentation in stainless steel, and early removal from lees helped maintain the vibrant aromas.

Tasting Notes: It's a joy to smell the exotic aromas of orange blossom, honeysuckle and lifted tropical notes in the glass, and even better to sip, with a mouth-filling palate, medium acidity and a lingering, slightly floral finish. This white wine pairs well with lighter fresh salads and delicate grilled fish.
